fun with Claude

Imagine you're a little polar bear who's just left the Arctic and arrived in a place where grass and trees grow! This is what happens to Claude, a little ball of fun and fur! The three-year-old and his family have left their icy home in Little Snowington for the bustling town of Bearhampton, way on the other side of the world. Bearhampton is quite a culture shock for Claude. To begin with, it's strange to be suddenly the only little polar bear in a town full of brown bears and grizzly bears, koalas and pandas.

Things that most Bearhamptonites don't even notice anymore intrigue him: creatures and plants he's never seen before, cars and buses, and especially all the colors he had never even dreamed existed! There's something new to marvel at every day. Butterflies that look neither like butter nor flies, but like flying flowers... sticky stuff called honey and that tastes so good... something called "dancing," where it's OK to wave your arms around, kick your legs and make funny motions... and sports, where Claude introduces tray tobogganing to the delight of all...

In each episode, Claude tackles a new aspect of his surroundings. He often talks directly to the camera and the audience at home. He discovers that grass tickles and raindrops slide off his fur... and that if you build an igloo in Bearhampton, it'll melt before you can move in! He's particularly fascinated by the things he never saw in Snowington, like roller skates, pumpkins and TV sets. Even though he's sometimes bewildered by all the gadgets and the many new challenges facing him, he always keeps forging ahead!

Based on the books by David Wojtowycz, "Fun with Claude" is produced by distinguished U.K. animation firms Red & Blue, headed by Marion Edwards, and Dot to Dot, managed by Jo Killingley, in coproduction with Disney Channel U.K. for ZDF and ZDF Enterprises. It celebrates differences and encourages youngsters to consider their surroundings more closely. Pre-schoolers will eagerly join Claude as he discovers new animals or objects, customs or events!
